ENGLISH
WORKSHOP
TUTORING

From Your Teachers

Our students in the Tourism program frequently use the Peer Drop-in Service and the English Writing Workshop. It's truly a testament to its value. Students find immense support and guidance from their peers and teachers and these interactions help them pinpoint their weaknesses and common errors, allowing for targeted improvement. My colleagues and I have noticed a positive impact on students' grades and we will continue encouraging them to take advantage of these outstanding services.

Why should you take your papers to the English Writing Workshop? Language and thought are closely related. Improving your writing skills will actually help you become a better critical thinker, structure your thoughts, and express yourself in an effective and creative way, both on paper and orally. A.I. is nothing more than a crutch, and a mediocre one at that. If you want your brain to develop, go to the workshop.

Once in a while, I remind my students that the English workshops at St. Lawrence are the best way to improve their level of English, and consequently to increase their grades. A few minutes with an English teacher taking the time to explain grammar rules or a choice of words can make a remarkable difference in a student's English learning journey.

When reading assignments, I can often tell if a copy was revised by an English teacher. English quality is greatly improved and content is usually easier to appreciate and understand. After visiting the English workshops, students usually say they will use the service again. It is just a matter of actually scheduling a first appointment!

I strongly recommend that you visit the English workshop before submitting each step of the term project. It will help you improve your writing style and will positively impact your grade. You will get to work with dedicated teachers who have your academic success at heart.

Not only is the English Writing Workshop conducive to getting better grades, but the immediate, one-on-one feedback you obtain from trained professionals will make you better writers—not only now but moving forward as well. The Workshop is not just a "grammar checker"; it is available to all students who want to write more effectively, with greater concision and fluidity. Alumni survey after alumni survey confirm that the Workshop is one of the most—if not the most—resourceful service at the disposal of students at St. Lawrence College. No better place than here; no better time than now.

What if I told you that you could boost your grade on an assignment by 5 to 15%? Even better. What if I told you that you could improve your writing permanently by learning how to identify and fix your mistakes? Want to know how this is done? Not with AI. Choose and use RI instead. This is Real Intelligence. Come and be impressed with what your English Writing Workshop can do for you!

Language software can correct the most obvious English mistakes instantaneously, however, it does not explain the mistakes nor the rules for writing correctly. In the Writing Workshop, you will find a person, an expert, who will do exactly that: explaining and pointing out rules that will make you an autonomous and confident writer. You will get a personal review of your essay with suggestions for re-wording, proper use of tenses, elimination of "fluff" (example: Hume is trying to explain...no: Hume states, asserts, claims etc.). You will want to go back with each assignment, if it is only to have a crazy good laugh with Louise while learning, and you will leave St. Lawrence at the end of your studies as an accomplished speaker and writer.

The English Writing Workshop is a wonderful opportunity for students to improve their English skills in a friendly, supportive atmosphere. For several years now I have noticed students in my classes who improve their English even in the course of a semester. I would strongly recommend that any student who would like to improve their English take advantage of this great opportunity to do so!
